

Short Term Goals (= < 3 months)

Needs	How	Action by Whom	Time Frame	Priority
Money needed for disaster relief, food, blankets	Hosting a fundraising event	Asian Business Groups, Dean Yonenaga	Within a month or so
System is overwhelmed by donations coming in; what else can we do? A platform for pairing disaster evacuees with others	Brainstorming, pair with some family outside the disaster zone, get away from the disaster zone. AirBnB	Start-up tech community, Aaron Greenspan	Starting now
Lack of information from the government. Urgency of providing information.	Volunteers to help government with various tasks	Volunteers
Linking people with location via the internet	http://www.sinsai.info/ushahidi/	User generated, Patrick Meyer	Up and running

Long Term Goals (=>3 months)

Needs	How	Action by Whom	Time Frame	Priority
People are trying to get out of the chaos. What is the next stage? Services, education, school	Money (tangible and intangible support), hold events with a clear mission, concerts, artists	Various communities	5 to 10 years
This incident will start to fade from the news agenda	Ongoing fund-raising events long after the disaster	Various	1, 2, 3 years after
Fundraising (long-term), prevent tragedy from being forgotten	Sister city relationships, high school students in those cities. Send funds to the cities in Japan for distribution, even those outside the disaster area.	US cities, students in those cities	Years after

Long Term Goals (=>3 months)

Needs	How	Action by Whom	Time Frame	Priority
Mental health of the victims persisting long after the disaster (depression, anxiety)	Transfer US expertise in mental health care to Japan	US health care professionals	(years)
Prepare for the next disaster	Government to government assistance	Government	Starting now
Keep the support for Japan going. Keep the need for support visible	Start founding new sister school relationships where they do not now exist, especially with schools in the Tohoku area, put the disaster into school curriculum	US elementary through college schools, JUNBA	Over years
Scale modeling of terrain for Japan	US modeling technology
Transparency of Japanese government with the world	Media pressure.	Journalists, popular blogs, etc	Years	